

RESEARCH CLUB CHARTER NOT SHELVED BY MINORITY REPORT

M. Stuart Johnson Explains
How it is Combined With Achi Commission Plan

That the Research Club's charter draft has not been abandoned by the minority report of the committee of 15 of the charter convention is the contention of M. Stuart Johnson, a member of the drafting committee, who maintains that many features of the Research Club instrument of government have been retained and combined with the Achi commission plan.

Mr. Johnson's explanation, given to the Star-Bulletin today, follows: "The charter draft submitted to the charter convention by the minority of the charter draft committee carries out the main principles of the Research Club's charter, in that the principles of the short ballot form of government is proposed and that the administrative heads of departments are all appointed and controlled by the governing body."

"This form of government provides that the control of municipal affairs is placed in the hands of a few elected officers, subject to recall, who constitute the legislative and policy-making body of the government similar to the board of directors of a corporation. Responsibility is direct."

"The functions of this body are legislative only, but with control of the administrative branches of the government by the appointment of department heads by individual members of the legislative body, who are responsible to the people for the departments to which they are elected, and over which they appoint department heads. Thus, the administrative responsibilities are centered upon the heads of departments direct, instead of upon a unit head of all departments appointed by a majority of the controlling body, as provided for in the Research Club's charter in the appointment of a city manager."

"This provision of the proposed charter follows the idea of the Achi charter, which provides that the elected legislative officers should be administrative heads as well. As modified in the proposed charter the evils of electing the administrative heads to the legislative body under a large salary is provided against. The duties of the elected officers are legislative with the responsibility only of the administrative departments to which they are elected.

Easier on Supervisors.
The appointment of department heads by each supervisor relieves the supervisors of all administrative details which, under our present form of government, requires the supervisors to devote a great amount of time to the consideration of details. The administrative heads of departments are relieved of the legislative functions and duties, as provided for in the Achi charter, and may devote their entire time to the administration of their departments.

"This superior under the proposed plan will not be required to devote near as much time to the duties of the office of supervisor as is required at present, and can devote their energies to the consideration of the greater questions and problems of the government. For this reason it is not deemed necessary to compensate the supervisors for their services, and it is believed that better men will be induced to run for these offices when no compensation is provided, especially when the proper organization of the departments is provided for with direct responsibility and unhampered control and authority."

Modified Short Ballot.

"It is believed that this modified plan of the short ballot, city manager form of government will provide against the possibility of the evils of the appointment, by the majority of the board, of a political boss as city manager in full control of the departments of the government, until such time as the people are educated to the necessity of and ability to elect competent and conscientious supervisors who can appoint a city manager outside of political influence, and until the time comes when the people realize that the benefits of efficiency in municipal affairs will not be beneficial results to the individual as well as the community; and when they will demand, as is being demanded in other cities of the United States, the elimination of political influence and patronage in the administrative departments of our government."

EIGHT TARGETS FOR PUNCHBOWL TARGET RANGE

done by part of the territorial prison gang, under the supervision of Capt. Forbes and other members of the engineer company, who are entering into the big task with spirit.

Plans contemplate a permanent camp, with frame buildings in which the men can rest between rounds. The buildings will be equipped with shower baths, reading rooms, a general office and other conveniences for guardsmen. The proposed citizens' military training camp will be given a part of the grounds for its activities, if organized.

Monday Col. Johnson will leave for Maui to inspect existing National Guard companies there, two companies now being in training conditions on that island. He will also look into the possibilities of forming two more companies, which he needs to complete the battalion he seeks for Maui, and which he says today he is going to get within a short time.

Governor Pinkham, as a result of his inspection yesterday, promised to do all in his power to make the range and permanent quarters a reality, and to secure further assistance from the government if necessary for equipment and supplies.

Miss Phoebe Arleigh will give her last local harp concert in Bishop hall, Punahoa, Friday evening. Tickets on sale at Territorial Messenger Service.

STAR-BULLETIN RETURNS MADE POSSIBLE BY SPEEDY SERVICE

Associated Press and Federal Wireless Cooperate to Give Remarkable Results

All kinds of records for wireless communication and fast news service between San Francisco and Honolulu were established during the world baseball series. As a result of the Associated Press service by Federal Wireless, specially arranged for by the Star-Bulletin, the fans were enabled to get the news accurately, steadily and with remarkable speed. In San Francisco the Associated Press started the day by filing with the Federal Wireless the batteries as soon as they were announced. As early as 8:45 o'clock the baseball fans of Honolulu were given the news of the batteries for the day. After that, every half minute, came flashing the results. The Federal Wireless gave a two-minute service from San Francisco to the Star-Bulletin office. That is, two minutes after the news reached San Francisco from Boston or Philadelphia over the land wires, it was received in Honolulu. That means really great speed in transmission.

Every day the blackboard in front of the Star-Bulletin office was watched by hundreds of fans. Today at 10:51 they knew how the world's series had resulted, for at that time the Associated Press bulletin through the wireless announced the result.

The special arrangements made by this paper for the convenience and information of Honolulu's thousands of baseball fans—and it seems as if everybody in Hawaii is interested in the world series—worked out successfully this year as last year. The bulletins on the results in each case have been followed by an extended story giving all the essential details, so that the Star-Bulletin every afternoon has been able to print the big news of the big series.

FOURTEEN NEW COMPANIES OF GUARD FORMED

Big Island Now Has Separate Regiment and is Ablaze With Enthusiasm, Says Johnson

Fourteen new national guard companies on Hawaii, at $90 men each. This is the result of Col. Samuel I. Johnson's visit to the Big Island. The adjutant-general returned today and this afternoon gave out the above statement. A detailed report of the results of his trip was presented to Governor Lucius E. Pinkham late this afternoon.

This makes the colonel's dream of a second national guard regiment on Hawaii a reality. Equipment to supply 12 of the 14 new companies will be shipped to the Big Island next week and will be followed by equipment for the remaining two. The new regiment is separate and distinct from the 1st Regiment, formed on Oahu.

Of the 14 companies, all but one are infantry. That one is the machine-gun company at Hilo. "Each of the companies averages 80 men," said Col. Johnson this afternoon. "I never saw so much enthusiasm over the National Guard of Hawaii in all my life as there is right now on the Big Island. They want work, and they are going to get it."

The F-4 will rot in the mud bank

she is now occupying at Pearl Harbor. Lieut.-cmdr. J. A. Furer, who raised the ill-fated submarine, gave out this information this afternoon, just before he sailed on the Manoa for San Francisco en route to Washington. "I had a plan for sinking the boat," said Lieut.-cmdr. Furer, "which I sent to the navy department in the report of the board of inspection and survey appointed to decide what to do with the dismantled wreck. My recommendations have not been approved. Had they been we should have heard from the navy department long since."

The naval constructor said that next week the six pontoons which brought the F-4 to the surface will be detached from the wreck and moved on skids to dry land, where they will be left until needed perhaps in the future for salvage of one kind or another. Mr. Furer said he believes the F-4 will be allowed to remain in the mud

HOME RUN IS PHILADELPHIA'S FINAL DEFEAT

Never before in the history of the big classic had there been such unlooked-for developments and Carrigan had proved to the world that the American League representatives were the best in the world.

When the game opened Moran sent Mayer to the mound to stop the Boston team. Alexander was saved for the next day, but there wasn't any next day. Carrigan looked over his pitching staff and selected George Foster, the big right-hander. From the start the Phillies landed on the Red Sox twirler and two runs were scored in the first inning. Mayer held the visitors safe.

Mayer Weakens.
In the second inning Boston scored one run while the Phillies were blanked. In the first of the third, Mayer weakened and the Red Sox tied the score. Philadelphia had a runner on first in the last of the fourth when Luderus came to bat. The heavy hitters of the Phillies have been aiming at the right field wall throughout the series and Luderus was the first to be successful when he hit a homer in this inning and sent the Quakers two runs in the lead.

Moran had replaced Mayer with Rixey in the fourth and the big collegian was pitching good ball to the eighth when the California due spoiled his wonderful record.

Cady took the stand behind the plate for Boston, replacing Thomas.

Foster was hit hard in two innings, but pitched a good game throughout. Rixey used his fast ball effectively until the eighth inning.

Thousands of fans were unable to find their way into the park as the stands were packed to the limit. The weather was ideal for the game and the players were all ready for a final dash to victory. The players were engine trouble on the road, which delayed them nearly three hours.

The attendance was all the stands could hold, over 20,000 spectators viewing the contest.

ABRAMS FORCED OUT OF COMPANY ON HIS RETURN

turned over to L. C. Abies, expert accountant, who was engaged by the trust company in the examination of Abrams' accounts. It was reported today. The trust deed is understood to have been given jointly by Abrams and his wife.

As an aftermath of the embezzlement cases which terminated in Circuit Judge Ashford's court yesterday afternoon, both Hoogs and Abrams will leave the territory at an early date, according to statements made today by persons who are in close touch with both of the convicted embezzlers.

Fred W. Milverton, attorney for Hoogs, declares that his client has made a complete restitution of all the funds alleged to have been embezzled by him from the Bank of Hawaii, where he was employed as teller prior to the discovery of his peculations. In this connection, it is reported that Abrams has made a partial restitution to the Hawaiian Trust Company.

Comment on Sentences.
There was considerable comment about town today regarding the leniency exerted by Circuit Judge Ashford in pronouncing sentence on Hoogs and Abrams. The court imposed fines of $1000 in each case, while the law provides that, where the amount embezzled is more than $100, the court may impose a sentence of not less than 5 years or a fine of from one dollar to $5000. The court, however, may not impose both fine and imprisonment.

Regarding the matter of leniency, City Attorney Brown came to Judge Ashford's defense today by stating that he believed the special committee of the territorial grand jury, which visited Judge Ashford in chambers and requested that leniency be meted out to both Hoogs and Abrams, had a great deal to do with the judge's determination of the penalty in both cases.

"I think that the special committee of the grand jury which waited upon Judge Ashford and pleaded for leniency for both men, had much to do with the imposition of a money penalty rather than a term of imprisonment," was the way City Attorney Brown put it.

Motive Hard to Get At.
Attorney Milverton, who represented Hoogs, stated in court yesterday that it would be hard to ascertain the motive for the crime committed by a man of the personality and character of Hoogs.

"His solution may be found in this letter from his mother—the one person who knows the traits of the defendant, both good and bad," he said.

Attorney Milverton then read the following letter, written by Hoogs' mother:

FRENCH ARTILLERY MEN ARE TRAINING BRITISH RECRUITS

DUNKIRK.—The remarkable development in technique and training of the French artillery service is indicated by the fact that all British artillery recruits newly arrived in France are sent first of all for a week's training with French batteries.

A British general, writing to a French newspaper, describes the method of training adopted by the British staff. "Each fresh British infantry brigade," he says, "joins a British division for a period of 10 days to familiarize itself with trench work, but our artillery is turned over to the French gunners for its preliminary instruction. The French artillerymen are as charming as possible. The French officers neglect nothing in order to make the work as agreeable and instructive as possible to our men of all ranks."

ESCAPES NOOSE SIX TIMES; BREAKS JAIL

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Irvin Pope, a negro, six times sentenced to death and each time saved from the gallows by the supreme court or by executive clemency, has escaped from the state prison in Shelby county. Pope was arrested six years ago on a charge of killing James McLarkin, a farmer. He has always maintained his innocence.

VOTERS WERE BOUGHT FOR "THE PRICE OF A DRINK"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Voters were bought for 10 cents, "the price of a drink," in the election of November 3, 1914, according to Edward J. (Big Chief) O'Leary, who testified in the trial of Mayor Joseph E. Bell, charged with election conspiracy. About 100 saloonkeepers testified that they had contributed to the Democratic campaign fund in sums ranging from $5 to $75. The total was almost $1500. City employees, most of whom were indicted with Mayor Bell, were named as the collectors of this fund.
